

The WVMA works daily to bring you education, information, a legislative voice, and a seat at the table with stakeholders affecting and influencing the profession. Moreover, the WVMA communicates the positive impact veterinarians have on the lives of food production clients and animals, pets and their owners, as well as society at large.